

Are you interested in performing at LIVE in the Churchyard?

St Mary-le-Bow Church, Cheapside, is looking for ensembles for its annual summer music festival, LIVE in the Churchyard. This annual music festival, currently funded by the Cheapside Business Alliance, is made up of non-ticketed performances on an outdoor stage for the benefit of the local community.

Providing a platform for school choirs and bands, as well as more established groups for lunchtime and evening outdoor performances on the stage in Bow Churchyard, this is a paid opportunity for bands of up to 6 musicians to perform in the centre of the City of London. We are looking for groups of any instrumental combination, including with vocalists, who can provide accessible and light music which can attract the attention of passers-by, and who can engage with an audience of members of the public.

Interested ensembles should provide:

- A brief description of their music and style, including the instrumental/vocal line-up
- An indication of performer fees for a two-hour performance (with breaks)
- Link(s) to a sample performance on any online platform

With a limited number of opportunities available each year, we will be pleased to receive expressions of interest to keep on file for the planning of subsequent festivals. Applications are welcome at any time.

Please send applications or any queries to Thomas Allery at music@stmarylebow.org.uk
